GODIN LIGHT BURST Quilted Leaftop ACS Nylon Special Edition Electric Guitar

List Price: $1255 includes VBGAC gig bag

During all the lame muck that was going on during the late '90s, some neat-o stuff was seriously brewing at Godin Guitars. Dominique Miller was going on, and he was playing with Sting during the Ten Summoner's Tale and Mercury Falling era to be precise. During that time he showcased those very tasteful accompaniments on a Godin nylon electric—live and in the studio.

Last week I was watching a hip-hop superstar concert and the back line guitarist played a Godin nylon electric for the entire performance. With all of that said, Godin Guitars is proud to announce the release of the Multiac ACS Special Edition featuring a stunning new light burst quilted leaftop.

Assembled in Berlin, NH from finely crafted parts made in LaPatrie, Quebec, Godin has produced an instrument that players the world over recognize as a reliable, virtually feedback-free instrument—especially in crucial atmospheres like high volume, band or live settings. The ACS Nylon Special Edition is no exception, mainly due to its chambered maple solid body design, which also makes sound checking this instrument easier for both the player and sound engineer.

As with all ACS models, the Special Edition light burst quilt is equipped with RMC electronics with 13 pin output, making it possible to connect to a multitude of 13 pin devices such as the Roland GR series synths and computers (via MIDI). The mahogany neck matched with an ebony fingerboard with Ergocut (sides of neck at fingerboard beveled inwards for worn in feel) make for an incredibly comfortable playing experience, which further enhances the tracking capabilities of this guitar.

With a price that's completely tangible, this electric guitar is a great addition for players of any genre but a standard in jazz and gospel, and the list goes on. Visit www.godinguitars.com for more details and other models available.
